

MY MAINTENANCE:

clear skin

The seemingly effortless, totally laid-back glamour of Disney consultant/jewelry designer Kidada Jones is kind of incredible to behold. Her simple-but-stunning aesthetic—she lives in loose-fitting T-shirts and tomboyish jeans and wears only subdued colors like black, gray, and white—extends to her skincare routine. “I’ve never been able to indulge in tons of makeup because I have oily skin, which I inherited from my mother,” Jones explains. “What works for me is keeping things clean and basic: dime-size instead of quarter-size applications of anything and avoiding ingredients like mineral oil.” Pressed to reveal more secrets, she gave us a warm-weather-skincare shopping list:

deepest (yet gentlest) detox:
CLEANSER

“This super-concentrated botanical cleanser is great for oily skin, and it’s seriously like magic: It makes my skin impossibly soft.”

all-around skin perfecter:
FOUNDATION

“When I told my longtime friend [and Lorac founder] Carol Shaw about my skin issues, she gave me this oil-free foundation. It has no sulfates or synthetic dyes, which make me break out. If I have a meeting and need to step it up a bit, it leaves my skin even and smooth.”

best portable spf:

“I love being outdoors, but I have freckles and need to be careful of getting too much sun. This is genius: I can apply it over and over again without having to grease up my hands, and it doesn’t wreak havoc on my pores.”

favorite balm:
LIP SALVE
